The "Meechai Road" old community is located in the Muang Nong Khai municipality, Nong Khai province. In the past, it used to be an important commercial and waterway transportation centre. Together with its site, along the Mekong River, create the uniqueness for this area and affect the people’s life style, tradition, culture and architecture. Most of the buildings there are irreplaceable wooden row-houses. At present, the ancient buildings and wooden row-houses of the old community on the Mee Chai road are disappearing. The old buildings are replaced by the modern design. The area for conducting any community’s activities at the temple or sacred places is also gradually vanishing because of the people’s life in the modern society.